

SHUTS UP A STREET

Fulton Street Bridge Is Now Inaccessible.

IN CASE OF A WEST SIDE FIRE

The Department Would Have to Go Around by the Way of Pearl Street—Police Matters.

President Leiselt presided over the deliberations of the board of police and fire commissioners yesterday afternoon. Commissioners Loettigart and Hatch were present, the other two commissioners being out to the fair. Mr. Seagrave, of the firm of Seagrave & Co., of Detroit, manufacturers of hook and ladder trucks, was present and presented sealed bids for two hook and ladder trucks. Mr. Leiselt also presented and favored purchasing new and modern trucks rather than repairing and refitting the old one. Fire Marshal Lemon reported three incendiary burn fires, but didn't know whether it was the work of boys or men. It was his impression that it was the former. He also mentioned the fact of the closing of Fulton street bridge, rendering it necessary for the grand avenue company to go to Pearl street should they be called out for a fire on the west side.

Rebecca Thomas Samuel Watt in Trespass on the Case.

Rebecca A. Thomas began suit by summons yesterday, in the circuit court against Samuel A. Watt of Saranac charging trespass on the case, and seeking to recover damages in the sum of $2,000. In the bill of complaint it is alleged that Watt who is a prominent merchant in Saranac and who also runs a store in Williamson and another in this city, had a bill of sale on three valuable horses, as security for $475 advanced to Mrs. Thomas, the plaintiff. By some means, she claims, he had the bill of sale made absolute and took possession of the horses. From one of them, a valuable stallion, it is alleged that Watt received several hundred dollars for service fees, after which he sold it for a nominal sum. Another one, a valuable mare, is now in Parson Arney's string and the third, a gelding, was stolen from him.

Yesterday's Warrants.

Warrants were issued yesterday for Jerome Lee, keeper of a road house on Madison avenue, and a wife, Harker, who, keeper of the "Last Chance," who are charged with selling liquor without paying the state tax.

Spanking Doesn't Help 'Em.

Willie Brotram, Frank Norkoski and Leo Norkoski, came into police court yesterday under the guardianship of County Agent Hathaway. Hathaway has found out that it does no good to paddle the boys, and asked the judge to be allowed until today to knock some of the partitions out of his upper story that he might get light as to what to do with the kids.

Wilson's Examination.
John Wilson, who was arrested Thursday for the larceny of a bicycle from Mary Mills, was up in police court yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and demanded an examination, which will be given him September 30.

VENGEANCE OF THE WOLVES.

One of Their Number Killed by the Pack Because of a Mistake.

During one of my hunting and fishing excursions in Louisiana, says a writer in Forest and Stream, I was fishing on a lake two or three miles long and from one-quarter to one-half mile wide. On one side the hill land came down near the lake, leaving about one-quarter mile of sand beach, and while there I saw a deer running at the top of its speed toward the lake, and a moment later a wolf appeared in hot pursuit. Expecting them to plunge into the lake, when I could overtake and kill them both in the water, I kept my place. Just before the deer reached the water it was caught by the wolf, which pulled it down and killed it. Then the wolf stalked around, looked about, trotted off some distance and set up a howl, went further and again howled and then into the woods, when I heard more howling.

The wolf being out of sight, I rowed my boat to the place and got the deer and then went back to my fishhook. Shortly there appeared on the scene a pack of ten or twelve wolves. They stalked and moved all around where the deer had been killed. These movements occupied considerable time. They would huddle together, change about and trot in all directions, keeping close together. Finally they got into a fight; the whole pack attacked one wolf and killed it. It was literally bitten and chewed to pieces. Now, what was the wolf killed for? The probability is, and I am almost positive, that the dead wolf was the one that killed the deer. I have talked to many hunters upon the subject, and have come across but two who had seen anything similar, and they thought the wolf had been killed for lying. If it was done in the case I saw for lying it was the only time I ever knew a wolf to be killed wrongfully.

SHOOTING AT ICEBERGS.

An Expensive Amusement Proposed for the New American Navy.

It has been suggested that the men of war of the great navies should be employed in the destruction of the icebergs of the north Atlantic. According to this plan the bergs are to be bombarded with great shells, which, penetrating deep into the great ice and exploding there, will shatter them to pieces. There is no doubt that this would be a far more profitable expenditure of ammunition than the uses for which it is designed, says Scribner's Magazine, for any target is better than the dear bought frame of man or the products of his skill of hand and mind, but it is more than doubtful if the end could be obtained in this way. In the first place, to accomplish the desired result it would be necessary for the men of war to watch the exit of Baffin's bay in the springtime, and break up the bergs into relatively small bits, so that they would no longer float with their bases in the deep southward setting current, but would drift with the flow ice. To do this with several hundred great masses, averaging probably at least one thousand feet in cube, would require an enormous expenditure of money. In closing the wear and tear of guns, the shells from the great modern ordnance cannot be fired at a less cost than five hundred dollars for each shell, and it would probably require many hundred rounds of ammunition to break up a single berg. It would not at all serve the purpose to rend the ice to pieces in the midatlantic district, for there the fragments would float about and multiply the dangers of navigation. Such work, if done, would make that region nearly impassable for a portion of the year, though from the reader's melting of the ice the trouble would not endure so long. On the whole this interesting project does not seem practicable.

Crozier Bros.

Closing out the Chicago Shoe Store.

Tariff Reform Booming.
It is gratifying to note that the United States Baking company is meeting with favorable consideration in its efforts to supply the hungry multitude with the new tariff reform cake.

To those who believe in tariff reform, as well as to those on the other side of the fence, this cake comes as a sweet and dainty reminder of one of the principal issues of the coming campaign.

"Tariff reform" has a delightful flavor and certainly deserves all the popularity it is getting.
